

Path Assist by Activate Care

Path Assist is a community care model aimed at improving the health of targeted Medicaid and at-risk populations. By reducing health inequities and improving quality of and access to care in defined geographies, Path Assist provides evidence-based and person-centered support to address unmet health-related social needs.

Our Path Assist community care model offers multiple components that can be implemented to meet your specific needs. Whether you need one element, a variety of options, or the complete package, the choice is yours.

Community Care Assessment

Customized community assessments designed for organization's unique needs with community representation at each stage of the research process.

Workforce Training & Competency Building

Extensive, structured curriculum approach for CHW training and care process workflows for evolving CHW roles, growth, and retention.

Social Drivers of Health Screening

Trusted, locally-based CHWs conduct SDOH screenings and lead intervention enrollment to improve health confidence and member activation, reducing unnecessary acute care.

Population Stratification and Technology

Informed community risk analysis for member identification, improved CHW operations, and scaled services.

Community Care HUB

Vet and select SDOH service provider networks for populations with unmet social needs. Train community-based CHWs on integrated care processes and quality measures.

Client Experience

Clients who feel known, heard, accepted, and supported as they navigate tough situations when we respect their preferences and meet them where they want us to be.
